Hello,

I hope you are doing well. As our practice remains focused on providing you with exemplary ob/gyn healthcare, I would like to share some important news.

I will be retiring in August 2020. It is not an easy chapter to close for me, but it is time. I am so incredibly proud to have served generations of women over my 33-year career at BOGG, including providing care to patients that I had delivered myself decades ago! Thank you for allowing me to provide your care; the significance of experiencing life events alongside my patients has truly made my career remarkable and fulfilling.

Throughout the years one of my goals has been to make personal contributions that would support continuous improvements in our practice and community - to make today better than yesterday, and tomorrow better than today. I am confident that we will all continue to succeed in making meaningful contributions, and I have great optimism for the future of BOGG - that makes my leaving a bit easier. As I look forward to new adventures in retirement, please know that my colleagues at BOGG will continue to provide exceptional care for you in the years to come. You do not need to take any action at this time – the next time you contact us, our staff will assist you to ensure seamless continuity of care in our practice.

As we continue to make strategic changes that will support our strong tradition of accessible, quality healthcare for years to come, additional changes will be coming later this summer including Dr. Christopher Ollari focusing his career on gynecologic services, the addition of Dr. March Thompson to our skilled team of obstetricians, and Kelly Tull, NP will join our Advanced Practice Gyn Clinicians. More information will be provided about these changes in the coming weeks on our website (bogg.com) and on Facebook (facebook.com/BaystateObGynGroup).

In closing, I am proud to have been part of Baystate Ob/Gyn Group, Inc. for the past three decades. One of my favorite quotes is from Maya Angelou: "I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel." I will never forget my friends and patients at BOGG.

If you have any questions, please contact us through your patient portal or (413) 794-8484.

Sincerely,

Howard G. Trietsch, MD
